A Well-Deserved Happy Ending for Harvey

Alex's House is absolutely thrilled to tell everyone that Harvey has found a forever family that is perfect for him. He has a mom, teenagers and kids to love him. Even on the home visit, the kids were hugging him and he was so content. It was just amazing to watch. We've received lots of updates and pictures, which we are so excited about. It is just the most perfect outcome for this boy who had been turned away by society because of his breed. At last report, Harvey is still afraid of the cat, but we know they will warm up to each other.

Pepper Has a New Playmate

Parvo survivor Pepper has found a new family and two new four-legged siblings. One sibling is younger and was looking forward to a new friend to chase. We've heard Pepper mastered the doggie door in no time. Little Pepper had been surrendered to an area animal control because she got up on the counter and ate an entire pumpkin pie. When her new family emailed about meeting her, they said they'd had that experience (doggies on the counter) one or ten times, so we knew they would be patient with this inquisitive little girl.

A Short Stay at Alex's House

As is the case with nearly all Alex's House residents, little Winnie was on death row. She had just arrived at Alex's House when three different families contacted us about her. We weren't surprised. She is a sweetie.

New Arrivals

Demian--a death row dog who had been chained by a previous owner. You can see the dark ring where the chain was. It had even rubbed enough to cause sores.

Sam—a hound mix who never wanted to hold still until he showed signs of parvo. He contracted the disease before arriving. His treatment at Alex's House was successful, and he's back to not holding still.
